CAYMAN SPIRITS CO.

What started as an idea among friends to create authentic, ocean-aged rum has grown into the renowned Cayman Spirits Co.

Despite its expansion, quality remains the central focus: Every drop is handcrafted with dedication. The passion for fine spirits is reflected in every glass.

Experience the distinctive taste that only Cayman Spirits Co. can offer.

How Seven Fathoms is made.

1. Sugar Cane and Copper

The process begins with the harvesting of fresh organic sugar cane from farms in the East End of Grand Cayman. Traditional West Indian techniques and a copper pot still transform the fresh sugar cane juice into young rum, with each step carefully controlled by hand.

2. Barrels & Currents

The rum is placed in bourbon barrels made of American oak and taken to a secret location off the coast of the Cayman Islands. Anchored at 42 feet, exactly seven fathoms deep, the handcrafted rum experiences underwater currents. These currents gently rock the spirit, providing constant temperatures unlike anywhere on land.

3. Timely Rescue

When the time is right, the barrels are recovered. Cayman Spirits and Co. was awarded Double Gold by the WSWA. Additionally, they received 90 points from Wine Enthusiast and have become a global favorite, gaining many friends along the way.

4. Immersion

Cayman Spirits and Co. believe they have created a unique and truly exceptional spirit. Critics agree. Whether enjoyed neat, on the rocks, or mixed with fine cocktail ingredients, Seven Fathoms is a premium rum that impresses in every situation.
